

Pre-Pandemic Germany was slow in adopting computer-based learning

Because of

COVID

Germany has emerged as a growing international education hub in recent years. It draws increasing numbers of students from countries like China and India, notably to its English-taught master programs.

March 2020 Germany shifted 11 million school students to online and were unprepared

Germany is now promoting “digital competencies” as a central concept in education.

2019 Germany Committed 5 Billion Euros or 5.8 Billion dollars into the modernization of its internet infrastructure

Money also used to increase supply of digital services in Germany's 43,000 Schools

